The use of drones, or unmanned aircraft systems (UAS), at the scenes of emergencies can present a risk of interference with police, fire, or other emergency operations. UAS can pose a particular risk to flight operations by police and fire aircraft. Although the day-to-day use of UAS is regulated by the FAA, the California Penal Code and Burbank Municipal Code do provide enforceable statutes regarding the use of UAS in a manner which impedes personnel in the course of their duties during an emergency.

BMC 5-3-1602.A and 5-3-1602.B make it unlawful to operate a UAS in a manner which interferes with fire or police operations respectively.

PC 402(a)(2) makes it unlawful to operate a UAS at the scene of an emergency in a manner which interferes with emergency personnel in the course of their duties.
